The institute is located in Greater Noida at the gateway of western U.P. The inception of GIMS was on the lines of SGPGI and Bye-laws have been made accordingly. 11. In view of the rapid development taking place in Gautam Buddha Nagar, the construction of Asia’s largest international airport, industrial expansion, and the establishment of several new urban townships, it is proposed that the Government Institute of Medical Sciences (GIMS), Greater Noida be developed on the lines of Sanjay Gandhi Postgraduate Institute of Medical Sciences (SGPGI), Lucknow, to provide high-quality tertiary healthcare services to the people of Western Uttar Pradesh.

7. GIMS was established by the Government of Uttar Pradesh on the lines of SGPGI to provide high-quality and advanced medical facilities to the people of Western Uttar Pradesh.
